Our Mission

The Sheltering Arms Foundation invests in the lives of Minnesota's children to help them reach their full potential. We fund non-profit organizations and support policies that benefit children and their families who have the least access to resources.

Our History

Sheltering Arms, founded in 1882 by Deaconess Annette Relf, is governed by a Board of Trustees composed of women members of the Episcopal Church of Minnesota. In response to the changing needs of children, Sheltering Arms successively operated an orphanage, a hospital for children with polio and a day school for special needs children. In 1983, Sheltering Arms was reincorporated as The Sheltering Arms Foundation. Consistent with the beliefs of the founders, the Foundation continues to be committed to the well being of children.

Dear friends,

2018-19 marked the beginning of our 35th year as a foundation and some great steps forward in our work. We launched a new website, video and logo. We hired a new investment advisor who is well suited to support our mission related investment goals. We continued our work on equity by engaging board and staff with the Intercultural Development Inventory (IDI). We began work on a planned giving effort called the SAF Legacy Club.

Our efforts also included:

- $494,000 in grants to 42 non-profit organizations as well as four grants to the Episcopal Faith Community to support work on behalf of children and families throughout Minnesota.
- Our annual Grantee Convening to share stories of success.
- The Early Childhood Legislative Briefing combined with Early Childhood Day on the Hill in partnership with the Start Early Funders Coalition, MinneMinds and the United Way.
- Work on behalf of children through the Start Early Funders Coalition, MinneMinds, Ignite Afterschool, and more.

We thank you for your continuing involvement with the Sheltering Arms Foundation on behalf of our children and our future.

Sincerely,

Denise Mayotte
Executive Director

Early Childhood

The Lower Sioux Indian Community in the State of Minnesota (LSIC) is a federally recognized sovereign Dakota nation located in southwestern Minnesota. LSIC created a Dakota language immersion early childhood program called Canšayapi Wakanyeza Owayaya Oti, which means Lower Sioux Children are Sacred, to help young families in the community and to give children the developmental benefits of immersion in their language and culture. The project includes both Early Head Start home visiting and an Early Childhood Center for children 0-5, including a preschool room for 20 children ages 3-5. Funds from SAF supported the purchase of Creative Curriculum, which was then adapted to incorporate Dakota culture.

The early childhood center, built in space adjacent to the Jackpot Junction Casino, includes many cultural elements in its design. Staff receives training to get early childhood credentials necessary for Head Start hires, expanding opportunities for tribal members. Staff also receives training in Dakota language and additionally, the program makes use of elder fluent Dakota speakers to help parents and children with the language.

This is a model early childhood program, fully culturally relevant for the Dakota children it serves and very high-quality. As a Head Start program, it is 4-star Parent Aware and eligible for early learning scholarships and the highest level of CCAP support. It is strongly embraced by the whole Lower Sioux community.

Youth Development

Hispanic Outreach of Goodhue County (HOGC) serves Hispanics in Goodhue County (southeast MN) - a large, rural county with a rapidly growing population. HOGC offers advocacy, support, referrals, education, and mental health services, along with leadership development and cultural events. Its mission is to help ease Hispanics’ integration into the community while preserving their culture. HOGC’s afterschool and mentoring program, Raising Immigrant Students’ Education Success (RISES), assists Hispanic students in grades 5-12 at two Red Wing schools to improve academic skills and grades, ensure on-time graduation, and prepare for postsecondary training or career success.

HOGC was funded by SAF to expand the component of RISES serving grades 5-7 by adding an extra program day to deliver the program two days per week. With this additional time, HOGC has expanded the cultural component of RISES. This newly developed curriculum of culturally specific activities recognizes that preserving their culture of origin is essential to children’s social and emotional identity. Additionally, the program enhances parental engagement, and has created a RISES Parent Advisory Council that assists with cultural activities and offers an opportunity for parents to learn skills to advocate for their children.

HOGC is a small organization taking on an ambitious agenda with a very small staff and limited resources. It is the only organization serving the growing Hispanic population between Owatonna/Winona and the Twin Cities.

“We want to help parents understand. To be educated. To be involved in their child’s education. What parent doesn’t want their kids to be successful? It’s important to take pride and also to help young people that often times are confused with their heritage. Especially the ones that are born here. We want to help them find their identity. We’re so thankful for the funding from the SAF.”

~ Lucy Richardson, HOGC Executive Director
Advocacy

The Wilder Foundation is the backbone organization and fiscal agent of The St. Paul Promise Neighborhood (SPPN). It is an educational collaborative that brings together families, schools and communities to change the odds for children in the Frogtown, Rondo, and Summit-University neighborhoods of St. Paul. It uses, education, advocacy, and family stability as tools to end multi-generational poverty by creating early pathways of opportunity leading to educational success.

SAF supported the expansion of two vehicles for building the power of SPPN parents – the SPPN Parent Council, a group of parents living in the affected neighborhoods who work to involve other parents in public decisions and LOVElife, a participatory research team producing knowledge that aids parent organizing. The parents work in support of the SPPN policy agenda that includes both affordable housing strategies and the agenda of the MinneMinds coalition, including early learning scholarships and home visiting funding. The program also involves parents in voter engagement efforts.

MinneMinds has recognized that a missing voice in policy efforts is that of parents impacted by poverty. SPPN is a key vehicle to bring that voice to the table with stories of how early childhood scholarships and other supports have benefitted their lives and started to make important changes to their St. Paul neighborhoods. The coordination of families, schools and community give the stories of parents context and power.

“I have been honored to witness how the Parent Council has created meaningful pathways for parents in their schools and neighborhoods to turn their ideas into action, discover how their actions influence change, and produce knowledge that enhances the ability of other parents to participate in shaping new realities for our children.”

Parent Power
$10,000

“What I love about my work as a parent advocate and organizer is witnessing myself and other parents stepping into our power and demanding a seat at tables where public decision are being made about us and our children. I value people’s ability to realize that they have the power and capacity to shape their own future. I value my ability to model for my children and other children in my community an understanding that we have always possessed the power to shape our reality and that the work we must do is to learn how we want to use that power. In my work, I have come to understand that change is inevitable, but justice is not. I value my work to help people understand that complacency and comfort does not equate to equity and justice.”

~ Erica Valliant, SPPN Parent Council leader
Episcopal Community Grants

St. Luke’s Episcopal Church in Detroit Lakes in northwestern Minnesota is a member of Tri-Church, an informal collaborative composed of representatives of three area churches. Last year, Tri-Church joined forces with Becker County Child Protection Services to assist children awaiting foster care placement. The project supported by Sheltering Arms was to assemble “transition kits” for 35-40 children with essential items to support the children as they awaited foster care placement. Because the children are often removed from their homes with only the clothes that they are wearing, kits contain blankets, clothes, toys, books, snacks, a backpack and other items. The kits were assembled by children and adults from the three participating churches, who learned important lessons about others in the community who live very challenging lives. SAF funds also helped with scholarships to area summer camps for children recently taken into foster care. Participation in summer camp is a luxury few of these children have experienced.

“The most important outcome of this project, besides meeting some unmet needs of the community, was that both adults and youth continue to find ways to remain aware of the issues of foster children and homeless children in the community.”

The Foundation uses the accrual method of accounting for financial reporting purposes. Under the accrual method, revenues are recorded when earned, contributions are recorded when an unconditional promise to give has been received, and expenses are recorded when incurred. Grants are recorded when approved by the Foundation's Board of Trustees. Grant awards that extend more than one year into the future are not recorded due to their conditional nature as the grantee needs to meet certain requirements before subsequent year awards are approved for payment.
